Koch Supply & Trading Continues Growth in Asia Pacific

SINGAPORE – Siddharth Roy, global gas corporate development director for Koch Supply & Trading (KS&T), has moved to KS&T's Singapore office in an expanded role that supports the continued growth of KS&T's global LNG business in Asia-Pacific (APAC). Mr. Roy will head the global LNG portfolio development team in addition to supporting scale growth initiatives across KS&T's global gas and power business.

“By applying our proven capabilities, extensive market knowledge and disciplined approach to trading, we provide sustainable value to LNG producers and customers globally,” said Roy. “I’ve been working with the global LNG trading team for several years and look forward to my expanded role in helping them toward continued success.”

Mr. Roy joined KS&T's London office in 2012, where he helped lead the successful launch of KS&T's Europe-wide natural gas and LNG trading and marketing businesses. He will continue to report to Stephen Cornish, managing director of global gas based in London.

In 2012, KS&T and its affiliates began a drive to broaden their involvement in global natural gas markets by launching a European natural gas business, as well as a global LNG trading arm. Since then the LNG business – based in London with offices in Dubai, Houston and Singapore – has built a substantial LNG portfolio and established itself as a strong natural market participant. The Geneva-based European natural gas business is a leading gas trader and marketer in Europe and earned the 2014 Natural Gas House of the Year award from Energy Risk magazine.
